INTRODUCTION

1920

This is the thirtieth edition of the Sacramento Directory. It is new and up to date in every respect. Its new metropolitan dress is in keeping with the growth of the community. Some one has said the smaller the city the larger the directory. It has been customary in small cities to make the directory reasonably large to give it the proper shape and form and it has been customary in large cities to reduce it as much as possible with the same end in view, to give it proper shape and form. J. Cotton Dana, the eminent librarian who has created the largest reference library in the world, says all reference books should be reduced as much as possible in order to make them more convenient and serviceable to their patrons. A large unwieldy book is very much more unhandy to use than a smaller one. Sacramento has outgrown its swaddling clothes and the directory presents it in a metropolitan form.

While the type in this new volume is more clear and easily readable than the last edition, yet there are forty-four more names on each page than formerly, so at every opening of the book eighty-eight more names are presented to view, therefore, the effort to find a name is reduced one-third.

The Sacramento directory is a handsome, well made publication. An earnest, honest effort with an experienced capable force of people has been made to create a better directory each year, not only equal to those of the larger and more pretentious cities, but superior to anything made on American soil, which means the best in the world.

Nine out of ten years, it is customary for directory publishers to estimate the population. This being census year no estimate of the population is made. The census is generally ten to twenty per cent below the directory estimate of population, but this does not mean that the directory estimate is wrong; it is the difference between experience and inexperience, and work done under competent superintendence.

Sacramento is a growing, thriving, prosperous community and when its directory takes its place, side by side with the other directories in the directory libraries throughout the North American continent, it is confidently believed that the comparison will be very favorable to Sacramento.

Respectfully,

SACRAMENTO DIRECTORY COMPANY.

SACRAMENTO DIRECTORY CO'S

DIRECTORY OF HOUSEHOLDERS

1920

In the following list, the Streets, Avenues, etc., are arranged in alphabetical order without regard to location. The number of each building on the street is given in numerical order, and opposite the number is printed the name of the householder or householders. Houses that remain vacant at the close of the canvass have the word "Vacant" printed opposite the number. Houses with no numbers are not given. To find the occupation of householder, refer to the alphabetical list of names. For location of Streets, Avenues, etc., see page 7.

To phone a person whose name does not appear in the City Telephone Directory, look said person up in alphabetical section, ascertain their house number, refer to "Householders' Guide" for corresponding street and number and the householder or householders names appear, they being in phone book if there is a phone in the house. If no phone in the house neighbors on each side will be seen before and after name, also people opposite.
